The Volkmann Product Line is your innovative partner

Based in Krefeld (Germany), the Volkmann Product Line, a division of Oerlikon Saurer, is the global market leader in twisting and cabling systems for the production of carpet yarns. In-depth knowledge, innovation and proximity to the market are the traditional strong points of the Volkmann Product Line. Energy saving solutions in the yarn production are relevant and increasingly sought-after. With the e-save carpet and the e-save standard spindles and potential energy savings of up to 35%, the Volkmann Product Line sets new standards in the market. The e-save spindle will, depending on the yarn counts, optimize the entire geometric conditions of the spindle and the pot resulting in energy savings of up to 35% together with a reduced yarn stress. The e-save spindles are applied in new machines, but can of course also be integrated as a conversion package into existing plants.

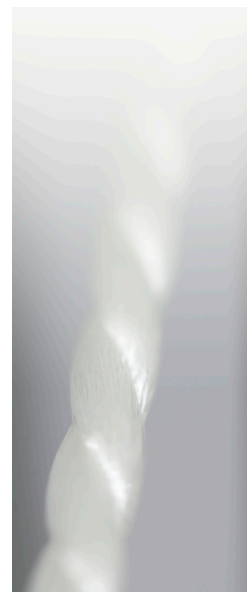

State-of-the art technologies combined with know-how built up over generations result in the best solutions for yarn quality and economically optimized processes. For this purpose, a number of ground-breaking technology elements were developed, for instance the efficient and pneumatic creel in the handling area featuring excellent ergonomic properties, or the individual yarn brakes, such as the compensation and hysteresis yarn brakes for the creel threads increasing efficiency and quality.

Being ideal complements, many of the technological innovations are also available as conversion packages to be integrated into existing plants. The Customer Support of the Volkmann Product Line is happy to offer attractive and efficient conversion solutions for older generations of machines.

Volkmann Service keeps you competitive.
